Domingo 15 (A) del tiempo ordinario

El mensaje es claro: Dios es generoso sembrando, pero la concreción de los frutos de su siembra dependen también —y a la vez— de nuestra libre correspondencia. Que el fruto depende de la tierra donde cae es algo que la experiencia de todos los días nos lo confirma. Por ejemplo, entre alumnos de un mismo colegio y de una misma clase, unos terminan con vocación religiosa y otros ateos. Han oído lo mismo, pero la semilla cayó en distinta tierra.

July first Sunday of July

Dedicated to the most precious blood of Jesus

In the Catholic Church, the month of July is traditionally dedicated to the Precious Blood of Jesus. This devotion honors the physical blood Jesus shed for humanity's salvation, emphasizing His sacrifice, the Eucharist, and the forgiveness of sins. The feast of the Precious Blood of our Lord was instituted in 1849 by Pius IX, but the devotion is as old as Christianity. The early Fathers say that the Church was born from the pierced side of Christ, and that the sacraments were brought forth through His Blood.

"The Precious Blood which we worship is the Blood which the Savior shed for us on Calvary and re-assumed at His glorious Resurrection; it is the Blood which courses through the veins of His risen, glorified, living body at the right hand of God the Father in heaven; it is the Blood made present on our altars by the words of Consecration; it is the Blood which merited sanctifying grace for us and through it washes and beautifies our soul and inaugurates the beginning of eternal life in it." first Sunday of July

Pope Leo XIV's prayer intention, July 2026

For respect for human life: Let us pray for the respect and protection of human life in all its stages, recognizing it as a gift from God.

15th Sunday in ordinary time cycle A

Today and the next two Sundays the Gospels are taken from Matthew 13: the 'parable' chapter of the Gospel. Heading the list is the great parable of the Sower, which with its long allegorical interpretation (vv. 18-23) and the intervening material (vv. 9-17) makes for a long Gospel reading indeed (13:1-23). Preachers who do attempt the longer text will have to cope with the rather difficult sayings that come between the parable and its interpretation.

In Matthew they are a reflection on that bulk of Israel that has not responded positively to the word of Jesus. The early Church took consolation in the sense that at least this bitter disappointment had been foreseen in Scripture and so was somehow part of the mysterious plan of God.

JESUS' MESSAGE

In the case of many who hear him the word suffers the fate of the seed that is lost. But when it really strikes home and finds a welcome, the corresponding 'yield' – hundredfold, sixty, thirty – more than compensates for all the loss.

The parable is about the generosity of God. In the face of so much opposition and growing indifference from the crowds, Jesus does not lose confidence in the worthwhileness of his message. When the word finds a generous response in the human heart, there is no limit to the riches of God's love and grace that can be channeled through such persons more widely into the world.

So the disciples – and, following them, teachers, preachers, catechists, and all concerned with the proclamation of the word and its understanding – should not lose heart. As the brief First Reading (Isa 55:10-11) insists, the word that goes forth from God's mouth does not return empty; it does not come back without succeeding in what it was sent to do.
