SUMMARY OF READINGS FOR OCTOBER 18, 2026

The Lord speaks through the prophet Isaiah to Cyrus, the pagan king of Persia whom God has chosen and "grasped by his right hand". Though Cyrus does not personally know the God of Israel, God equips and empowers him to subdue nations and open doors for the sake of His chosen people, Jacob/Israel. The reading culminates in a monotheistic declaration: "I am the LORD, and there is no other; there is no God besides me. St. Paul, Silvanus, and Timothy open their letter by greeting the church of the Thessalonians. They express constant gratitude to God, remembering the community's work of faith, labor of love, and endurance in hope in our Lord Jesus Christ. They affirm that the Thessalonians were chosen by God, noting how the Gospel came to them not just in word, but "in power and in the Holy Spirit and with full conviction". The Pharisees conspire to trap Jesus by sending their disciples alongside the Herodians with a politically dangerous question: "Is it lawful to pay taxes to Caesar, or not?" Knowing their malice and hypocrisy, Jesus asks to see the coin used for the tax. When they hand Him a denarius bearing Caesar's image and inscription, Jesus delivers His famous reply: "Then repay to Caesar what belongs to Caesar and to God what belongs to God."

SUNDAY READINGS' REFLECTION

In this Sunday's Gospel reading, when Jesus asks the Pharisees to tell him whose image was engraved on the coin owed for the census tax, he uses it to teach a lesson about the image that should be engraved upon our hearts. Our hearts should belong to God and to God alone.

The Romans believed that their emperors were divine. Therefore, to possess Roman coins meant carrying around the graven image of a human god. The Pharisees knew this when they challenged Jesus. Paying the census tax to Caesar symbolized more than just submission to a foreign government. It had religious connotations. If Jesus was a true prophet, he should speak up against Jews possessing pagan coins. If he was a true messiah, he should deliver them from the oppression and taxes of the foreign government – or so they thought.

We don't know how they happened to have the Roman coin that they showed to Jesus. If they pulled it out of their own purses, which is likely, it revealed their hypocrisy. However, Jesus wasn't just interested in exposing their hypocrisy; he wanted to make a point about the True Messiah.

If we belong to God, Jesus is engraved upon our hearts. We have been rescued from the destruction of sin by the Messiah. We have let him deliver us from the oppression of evil that was caused by our sins.

Whose image do others see when they look at your life? When people see you, do they see Jesus engraved upon you? To the extent that they do, that's the extent to which you belong to the kingdom of God!
