June: Month of the Sacred Heart of Jesus

June is the month dedicated to the Sacred Heart of Jesus! This devotion invites all faithful to meditate upon and venerate the immense love and compassion symbolized by the Sacred Heart. It serves as a profound reminder of Jesus Christ's unwavering love for humanity; a love that endures beyond suffering and sacrifice.

junio: el mes en que el Corazón de Jesús reclama el centro de la vida Cristiana. Margarita María de Alacoque, una humilde monja que más tarde sería proclamada santa, recibió una serie de visiones en las que Jesús le mostró su Corazón envuelto en llamas, coronado de espinas y marcado por una herida abierta.

Domingo 12(A) del tiempo ordinario

Hoy, después de elegir a los doce, Jesús los envía a predicar y los instruye. Les advierte acerca de la persecución que posiblemente sufrirán y les aconseja cuál debe ser su actitud: «No temáis a los que matan el cuerpo, pero no pueden matar el alma; temed más bien a aquel que puede llevar a la perdición alma y cuerpo en la gehenna» (Mt 10,28). El relato de este domingo desarrolla el tema de la persecución por Cristo con un estilo que recuerda la última Bienaventuranza del Sermón de la Montaña (cf. Mt 5,11).

El discurso de Jesús es paradójico: por un lado dice dos veces “no temáis”, y nos presenta un Padre providente que tiene solicitud incluso por los pajarillos del campo; pero por otra parte, no nos dice que este Padre nos ahorre las contrariedades, más bien lo contrario: si somos seguidores suyos, muy posiblemente tendremos la misma suerte que Él y los demás profetas. ¿Cómo entender esto, pues? La protección de Dios es su capacidad de dar vida a nuestra persona (nuestra alma), y proporcionarle felicidad incluso en las tribulaciones y persecuciones. Él es quien puede darnos la alegría de su Reino que proviene de una vida profunda, experimentable ya ahora y que es prenda de vida eterna: «Por todo aquel que se declare por mí ante los hombres, yo también me declararé por él ante mi Padre que está en los cielos» (Mt 10,32).

Twelfth Sunday in Ordinary Time

During the Church’s infancy, when the faithful gathered in the catacombs, they came not for a symbol or a story, but rather for the living Christ who had promised, “My flesh is true food and my blood is true drink” (John 6:55). Two millennia later, many still profess this truth while struggling to feel its weight. As most devout Catholics stand before the tabernacle, they still risk forgetting that before us rests the same Lord who spoke from Sinai and hung on the Cross. The renewal of Eucharistic faith begins not with argument but with awe.

Historical Glimpses of Reverence

From the earliest centuries, the Church expressed belief in the Real Presence through bodily reverence. Saint Cyril of Jerusalem instructed the newly baptized to form their hands “as a throne to receive the King.”¹ Tertullian warned that the Eucharist was not to be received “except from the hand of the minister.” When persecution ended and churches filled, ritual caution deepened devotion: genuflections, fasting, confession before Communion. These were not gestures of distance but of desire — human ways of acknowledging divine nearness.

The Body Given for Us

The Eucharist is not an idea but a body, and bodies speak a grammar of presence. In Christ’s command “Take and eat” the verbs are earthy and intimate. When the Word became flesh, the infinite consented to be handled; when the bread becomes the Word, the finite must learn to handle with awe. To forget this grammar is to risk turning mystery into routine.

Saint Paul warns the Corinthians that “anyone who eats and drinks without discerning the body eats and drinks judgment upon himself” (1 Cor 11:29). Reverence safeguards discernment. It reminds the believer that Communion is both invitation and warning, mercy and majesty. Our gestures at the altar — kneeling, bowing, receiving with care — are confessions of faith more eloquent than words.
