May the Month of Mary

The Catholic Church dedicates the entire month of May to the Blessed Virgin Mary, mother of God and spiritual mother of all. In the plan of salvation, the Blessed Virgin Mary holds a special place.

By virtue of her role to be the mother of the Son of God by divine election, she was conceived immaculately — i.e., without the stain of original sin — and by fidelity to her son has been crowned queen of heaven and earth. Everything Mary said and did leads to Christ.

Mary knew and loved Jesus like no one else on earth — and she loves each of her children, human beings, with

La Santisima Trinidad

Este domingo la Iglesia celebra la Solemnidad de la Santísima Trinidad, misterio central de la fe cristiana. Aquí te presentamos 12 claves para adentrarnos un poco más en este dogma.

Trinidad significa un solo Dios y tres personas distintas

El Compendio del Catecismo de la Iglesia Católica (CCIC) lo explica así: "La Iglesia expresa su fe trinitaria confesando un solo Dios en tres Personas: Padre, Hijo y Espíritu Santo. Las tres divinas Personas son un solo Dios porque cada una de ellas es idéntica a la plenitud de la única e indivisible naturaleza divina. Las tres son realmente distintas entre sí, por sus relaciones recíprocas: el Padre engendra al Hijo, el Hijo es engendrado por el Padre, el Espíritu Santo procede del Padre y del Hijo". (CCIC, 48)

La Trinidad es el misterio central de la fe cristiana Sí, y el Compendio lo explica de esta forma: "El misterio central de la fe y de la vida cristiana es el misterio de la Santísima Trinidad. Los cristianos son bautizados en el nombre del Padre y del Hijo y del Espíritu Santo". (CCIC, 44)

Most Holy Trinity Sunday

When we talk about the mysteries of our faith, that's the dynamic we're suggesting: not that we don't want any questions, but that there will always be more to say and our capacity to learn is limited. Jesus suggests as much in the Gospel when he says, "I have much more to tell you, but you cannot bear it now." Those words tell us something important about God. Jesus talks about knowing the Father by seeing the Son and living in the Spirit of truth. If you tried to diagram what that meant, you might end up with a triangle and lots of arrows going back and forth between the angles. Perhaps that's not a bad start because one thing that we can take from the invitation of Jesus to know him and know his Father and know the Holy Spirit is that he is inviting us into a relationship that will change us. It's a relationship that, in a way, is always moving.

Pope Benedict XVI expressed the relationship with God at the heart of Christianity when he wrote, "Being Christian is not the result of an ethical choice or a lofty idea, but the encounter with an event, a person, which gives life a new horizon and a decisive direction" (Deus Caritas Est, 1). When St. Paul talks about faith in the Letter to the Romans, he has this same dynamic in mind. Faith means not only believing something, but believing in someone. Believing in someone means a relationship of trust. Following someone you trust means change and growth. The really deep relationships in our lives change who we are. They change the way we think — how we know — and our capacity to love.

At the heart of the Christian faith is the belief that when we say "God" we are talking about just such a relationship, a never-ending exchange of love between Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. And when we say "Christian" we are talking about someone who has accepted the invitation to plunge into that relationship, into a mystery that doesn't end, into an ocean of love without limit in which there is always more to discover.
