Jesus said to his disciples:
'As the Father has loved me, so I have loved you. Remain in my love. If you keep my commandments you will remain in my love, just as I have kept my Father's commandments and remain in his love. †

May the Month of Mary

The Catholic Church dedicates the entire month of May to the Blessed Virgin Mary, mother of God and spiritual mother of all. In the plan of salvation, the Blessed Virgin Mary holds a special place.

By virtue of her role to be the mother of the Son of God by divine election, she was conceived immaculately — i.e., without the stain of original sin — and by fidelity to her son has been crowned queen of heaven and earth. Everything Mary said and did leads to Christ.

Mary knew and loved Jesus like no one else on earth — and she loves each of her children, human beings, with similar affection and tenderness.

Mother's day Prayer for Hurting on Mother's Day

Lord, on this Mother's Day we lift up the aching hearts of all those who desperately desire a joyful family but are experiencing brokenness and hurt; of those who long to be mothers, but mourn the absence of new life within them; of those who have conceived, but suffered through miscarriage or abortion, of those who have given birth, but endured the tragedy of burying a child; of those who have raised a child but struggle as their son or daughter runs from the Lord. Their grief is often hidden from us or neglected on this day of celebration of motherhood. We pray that they may experience healing in this church family. How long O Lord must death get its way at the outset of new life? How long must joy be deferred or interrupted by such cruel sorrow? Risen Lord of life, give them comfort and peace, breathe in us all the breath of new life.

6th Sunday of Easter

May 10,2026

Six Sundays into the Easter season, we are still preparing for Pentecost, for our annual celebration of the gift of the Holy Spirit. Easter is longer than Lent. We spend forty days fasting in preparation for Christ's passion, death, and resurrection. We spend fifty days in celebration. God's joy will always outdo the sorrows we experience.

Our long Easter season is not just a time to represent the joys of eternity, though. It is time for us to take in the reality of the resurrection. We keep hearing from the Last Supper discourse because there is much to take in. The resurrection itself is not a simple fact, a one-off event for which we keep partying. By his rising from the dead, Jesus brings our human nature to perfection. This takes time for us to assimilate. The Holy Spirit is our help.

He helps us assimilate this radical new state of affairs. "He remains in you," Jesus says, "and will be in you." Jesus breathes the Holy Spirit into his disciples that first Easter evening. He sends the Holy Spirit as fire upon the apostles on Pentecost. He continues to confirm and enrich our understanding of the word we receive in every sacrament, in our prayer, and even in our keeping the commandments. Jesus tells his disciples he will not leave them orphans, and in the same breath with which he promises the Paraclete, he exhorts his disciples to keep the commandments. Keeping the commandments is an act of love on our part. Keeping the commandments seals the presence of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit in our hearts.

When Jesus tells us he is not leaving us orphans, that he is coming back to us, that he is leaving his Spirit with us, we should understand this is not just about our relationship with him, but about our relationship with the world as well. Our faith in Christ, our hope in the resurrection, the love we show by keeping the commandments and doing the works of mercy, these alienate us from the world that cannot accept Christ or the Holy Spirit.

Jesus tells his apostles that the world cannot accept the Spirit of truth because it neither sees nor knows the Holy Spirit. Jesus goes on to say, "In a little while the world will no longer see me, but you will see me, because I live and you will live." Let's linger in our Easter joy a little longer, confident that though orphaned before the world we live already in possession of our hope, life with God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit.

Pope Leo XIV Prayer Intention for May

That everyone might have food

Let us pray that everyone, from large producers to small consumers, be committed to avoid wasting food, and to ensure that everyone has access to quality food.
